

Selectmen Ask Harbormaster's Presence To Settle Dispute

Selectmen requested that Harbormaster Harry Ritter attend next week's board meeting to settle a dispute voiced by fisherman Gerald Pattison.

Pattison claimed he was denied a mooring for a 30 foot fishing boat although he had applied for a 36 foot mooring eight years ago. He also said that others had gotten moorings ahead of him and that they hadn't been on the waiting list as long as he had. He demanded an explanation.

Pattison now has a 20 foot mooring for his old boat, but has purchased the larger boat which he wants to put in the water as soon as possible, he said, for spring fishing.

Selectmen Chairman Arthur Clark agreed to invite Ritter in to discuss the matter next week but couldn't decide anything about the problem until that time. When Pattison persisted, Clark became annoyed and told him that he shouldn't have dropped in without the harbormaster present and demand answers from those who weren't acquainted with the problem.

William Figuerido, who accompanied Pattison, said that he thought it was unfair for a young man who wants to be a commercial fisherman to be made to wait.

Pattison said he was losing money by not fishing now and wanted to know if he could launch his boat without having the authorities after him. Clark said that Ritter was in charge of the harbor and any violations that occur there.

Harbormaster Ritter said this week, "I go by the waiting list. I don't play games." He declined to say more before this week's Selectmen's meeting.

Rev. Enos Delivered Invocation

The invocation at the Community Center's first Portuguese Festival was delivered by Rev. Ralph Enos, a long-time resident of Cohasset and now serving a parish in the Bronx, New York. Father Enos talked about the virtues and talents of the Portuguese, who have enriched Cohasset and made it a desireable place to live. Mrs. Jean Salvador was chairman of the event.

The choir of the Second Congregational Church will present 'The Pirates of Penzance' by Gilbert and Sullivan at the Town Hall on June 14 at 7:30 p.m. The performance will be followed by a strawberry dessert served in Bates Hall. Members of the choir are featured in the leading roles and in the chorus. The production is under the direction of Ellen Fryling. Joan Kenney is the choreographer and Taffy Nothnagle the chief cook.
